Art and Design Intention Statement

At Brookside we aspire for Art and Design to support the development of our children's creativity and individuality whilst challenging and inspiring them further. We believe that the teaching of Art and Design provides a key role in creating a balanced and purposeful curriculum at Brookside that is inclusive for every child. We embrace the opportunity to teach Art in a cross-curricular way that enables pupils to gain a deeper level of understanding and knowledge within their class topics, creating a rich learning environment for all. Art provides every pupil with the opportunity to create work that is different to that of others whilst still learning the same skills, allowing us to share and celebrate as a community the development of independence and originality.

At the core of our Art provision is the statutory guidance that we use to create a curriculum that children can enjoy from an early age, developing their creativity and inspiring their futures in a way that can enrich their lives. We aim for pupils to become proficient in their use of key skills, such as drawing and painting, starting from being able to explore tools and materials in their Early Years and then building on this in a progressive meaningful way. Pupils will develop the ability to evaluate and analyse the work of others using the language of Art, offering them opportunities to see how all Artistic work has a voice and is individual to that of others. As pupils progress through school they will explore a range of great artists, craft makers and designers looking at the historical and cultural contexts of their art forms, this will cover work from the past and present as well as looking at Art on a local, national and global scale. We also value the impact that our Art provision has on the development of those key life skills that are at the heart of our community that we believe will make life-long learners. Art and Design will support creative thinking within our pupils helping them to take their ideas further by turning them into something that offers more personal forms of communication. As pupils practise, build on and refine key skills when producing creative work, this will support their ability to persevere and gain confidence in expressing their feelings, imagination and thoughts in meaningful forms. Picasso once said 'Every child is an artist' and we want our Pupils to recognise themselves as artists who create their own unique creations.
